Dear Joe,

I invested in StarPower mid 1998,

The following emails, DOC's, and PDF's were in the folder that I put online a month and a half ago, for your review and download.

The DOC's that I have here on my computer cover 2004-2008 time period... They include my written record of conversations with our former Chairman Nathan Morton (RIP) Nathan passed away Dec 2005. Neither he before his untimely death or StarPower have ever responded.

I will add the content of each DOC or email as possible to improve on the TIME and Content of each item of discussion per your request...

The items (emails and PDF's of emails) cover 2004-2008.

I will continue to improve them to achieve my Intel training of "clear and crisp as best as possible."

Dear Nathan,

Thanks for the call, it was timely.

I appreciate your assistance in resolving the issues that we discussed.

Per your request to submit some of the ideas and improvements for StarPower that I believe that need to be done to increase the growth rate.

In short, the company needs to evolve into one that has greater customer traffic, and greater daily revenues.

In order to do this, I have for several years waited for several planned improvements with the StarPower Website. It is an area that I personally would like to help in the management of this important use of technology to communicate with our customers.

The increase of traffic would center on the display of evolving technologies in the Smart House arena. This subject has been discussed for too long now, and with the emergence of Microsoft and Intel to name a few, for Digital Living, there needs to be a immediate plan developed and implementation of that plan. This is another area that my expertise is of value to StarPower. Intel recently announced the availability of a $200M Digital Living Fund for investment to companies that focus on this new area.

21 July 2008

It is now completely clear that the Digital Living product area is growing at a rate beyond our understanding. YOU probably know more about this due to your contacts...

In short, I have offered to work with you and StarPower, in the above-mentioned recommended improvements.

If you simply look at building a retail AV chain that leads and not follows, it is clear that Apple is leading the ease of use for Digital Camera and Digital Video Camera software, as well as leading the industry in the MP3 Audio market. Then take a close look at the industry changes in process, and map out a way to increase sales and profits.

I would like to have you and I meet with Steve Jobs for example, to discuss how StarPower with its high end marketing successes of Home Entertainment would be of benefit to Apple, and or Intel and Microsoft...

As far as selling some or all of my StarPower stock previously discussed in our last Board meeting, of which I recently found out from Daniel that I am the largest individual shareholder of the company does not bear out the attention that the company has paid to my attempts to help. One would think that the company would be much more respectful that it has been in the past few years... I have observed a reduction in this area from David, and an unacceptable level of rudeness. I expect this to be addressed.

21 July 2008

I also expected to have more communication to your commitments to me.

I have always respected you. And even admired you. But your performance over the past several years is suspect at this time. I would much rather help than to be negative.

The ball is in your court. I would want an initial positive response from you and StarPower within the next 10 days.

Thank you for your friendship and attention to this overdue matter.

Please feel free to share this email with the other StarPower shareholders.

Nathan Morton RIP email to Daniel and David.

The Pidgeons (David and Daniel) had been telling very negative stories about the financial demise of Nathan's estate ($700K of advances from Nathan's new Light company, and now Patty would have to pay taxes on the money, I thought how come they know this? Patty Morton had been pressing StarPower for info and what StarPower planned to do for Nathan's family... ie. Key Man insurance, etc. years pay, etc.

I recommended that StarPower utilize our attorney's to properly handle Patty's inquiry's. David showed NO sign of caring or even feeling any responsibility, rather he was talking shit about Nathan, and the body was hardly cold in the ground...

I thought how cold and unfeeling the Pidgeons were, no wonder they didn't give a shit about anyone but themselves...

I suggested AiLibrary FutureNow weekends to drive customer traffic into StarPower, and my requirements...
